When problems occur, however, it can be frustrating troubleshooting cryptic errors. Fortunately, a few simple diagnostic steps can help you get your HP printer functioning again. In addition, HP has made available some troubleshooting software to identify the root of the problem. For cases where you are unable to fix issues yourself or using the provided software, you will need to take your printer to a professional. This guide shows you how to identify and fix the most common HP printer problems. Is Your HP Printer Not Working? Common symptoms of a printer malfunction include the following: The printer does not power on The printer produces ink-soiled prints The job does not get printed at all The prints are sent to the wrong printer Paper gets jammed If you see any of these troublesome signs, then it's possible your printer has malfunctioned and needs attention. The severity of the problem may be small enough that you can fix it yourself. Some printer malfunctions, however, require professional repairmen, especially for more expensive heavy duty printers. Before you go about calling the repairmen, you should see if the malfunction can't be addressed with a simple do-it-yourself fix. Learning How Your HP Printer Works There are two main types of printers available from HP, and it helps to be aware of how your specific model works. Inkjet printers - HP sells inkjet printers such as the HP Envy 4520, HP OfficeJet 4650, and HP OfficeJet Pro 7740. Inkjet printers work by shooting a very fine stream of ink at the paper. The parts of an inkjet printer include gears that move the paper, ribbon cable that conveys printing instructions, and print cartridge. Laser printers - HP also provides laser printers, including the HP LaserJet Pro Multi-function, HP LaserJet Enterprise, and others. In a laser printer, electronically operated ink guns are replaced with a laser beam that guides ink to form a print impression. A fuser unit then sticks toner to the paper. Diagnosing Common HP Printer Problems There are some basic guidelines you can use to fix the HP printer problem you are having. First, if the printer won't print at all or does not light up, check that all cables are connected. These include power as well as Ethernet cables. You also need to check the wireless connection if the printer connects wirelessly. Next, if there is a paper jam, you will want to open up the paper feeding system and locate where the paper is clogged up. Then gently draw out the jumbled up paper and restart the printer. Other paper problems may be checked by looking at the paper feeding system as well. If, on the other hand, your printer has no discernible jams but you still can't print, it's time to check other parts are working correctly. In case the printer is printing but prints are soiled with ink or faint, then you might need to adjust your ink cartridge or toner. Sometimes your printer fails to print not because there is anything wrong with the machine, but the software is misconfigured. If this is your first time setting up the printer, verify that you have followed all the instructions for configuring it. MORE FROM LIFE123.COM Hewlett-Packard has recalled more than 6 million laptop power cords that could pose fire and burn hazards. HP is recalling LS-15 AC power cords used with HP and Compaq branded laptops. The company is recalling about 5.6 million power cords in the U.S. and 446,000 units in Canada. The cord pulls out of one end of the AC adapter. It came with laptops and accessories sold between September 2010 through June 2012, HP said on its power cord recall website. There have been 29 reports of power cords overheating and melting, which led to claims for minor burns and property damage, HP and the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission said in a statement. Customers are eligible for a replacement at no cost. The power cords are black and can be identified by the tag LS-15, which is on the AC adapter. Customers can call 1-877- 219-6676, or visit HP's website for the replacement. Activate and hold the button to confirm that you're human. Thank You! Company personnel may tell you to send your device to the nearest HP Service Center for repairs. Why is this important? The Benefits of Contacting HP Professionals You don't need to get in your car and drive to a service center if repairs are needed. HP agents will provide pickup so you can ship your computer. Here's why an authorized service center is the way to go: HP technicians know the ins and outs of specific laptop models. Taking your computer somewhere else may void your product warranty. Attempting laptop repairs yourself may damage sensitive components. How to Find the Nearest HP Service Center Go to the HP website's support area to find the contact options available. To find the nearest HP Service Center location online, here's what to do: Click on the Authorized Service Center link. Select your country from the drop-down list, and then type in a zip code, city or state. Under the "Supported Products" heading, select your device type. After you press "Search," the nearest locations will appear, along with addresses and phone numbers. If no service center appears, increase the search radius distance. What Can You Expect When Contacting the HP Service Center? Calling the listed phone number will put you in touch with authorized technicians. Customer service agents are trained to be friendly and patient, so you have nothing to worry about. They usually ask a few questions, giving you the opportunity to tell them about any strange sounds or behavior you've noticed. Keep your computer handy when you call so you can follow any instructions. If the problem is hardware related, support personnel will make repair arrangements. These repairs can take from five to 10 business days. How to Prepare Your Device for the Trip Follow these tips for a smooth shipping and repair process: Back up all files. Save a copy of essential files in case the service center needs to replace or modify your computer's hard drive. Remove device passwords: Getting rid of your passwords lets technicians access your computer and make repairs quickly. Use ample packing material: Fill the shipping box with professional packing material, such as foam peanuts. Other Ways to Get Needed Assistance With HP Device Issues Some computer issues are caused by software conflicts or out-of-date drivers.
